Peace To Be Preserved In Panama By Uncle Sam.

Orders In Anticipation Of June Elections.

Help Forthcoming If Amador Needs It.

FAIR WARNING TO AGITATORS.

Washington, May 10.—Revolutionary movements or election troubles in Panama, which in any way interfere with work in the canal zone justify the interference of the United States in support of the Panama Government.

Such is the tenor of the instructions sent to Gov. Magoon of the canal zone, by Secretary Taft, who also submitted to Gov. Magoon a letter from Secretary Root of the State Department, setting forth in detail what is stated to be the justification of American interference in case of disorder in any part of Panama.

This emphatic setting forth of the position of the United States, it is believed, will prevent serious trouble at the elections to be held in June. As Secretary Taft makes it clear that any disorder in the republic will hinder canal work, his letter will be doubly discouraging to opponents of President Amador, who are reported to have been planning a movement against him outside of the canal zone, believing that the United States would not suppress any insurrection unless it extends within the zone.

Secretary Taft's Letter.

Gov. Magoon communicated his instructions to the Panama Government yesterday and to-day Secretary Taft made public both his letter to Gov. Magoon and a letter of Secretary Root reviewing the relations of the United States and Panama.

In his letter to Gov. Magoon Secretary Taft says:

I have no hesitation whatever in saying that in my judgment an insurrection in any part of the republic would disturb the order in Panama and Colon and adjacent territory, and would greatly increase the difficulties that the United States would have in constructing the canal and while, of course, the forces of the United States ought not to intervene until it is established that the republic of Panama cannot maintain order in its own territory, I think the United States has the duty to intervene to suppress any insurrection in any part of the republic. Of course, such action ought not to be taken until it is fully established that the Government of Panama is unable to maintain order. Of this fact, a request by the President of Panama for my intervention to suppress an insurrection would be the best evidence. If this fact does not appear, then the duty of our Government would be plain.

Secretary Root's Letter.

Secretary Root's letter to Secretary Taft discusses at length the constitutional questions involved in the exercise by the United States of authority to maintain peace on the isthmus and quotes a section from the Panamanian Constitution which provides the United States may maintain peace in Panama in case this country agrees by treaty to do so. He also quotes a section of the treaty between the United States and Panama in which Panama grants the United States the right to preserve order in the new republic.

It is made clear by the Secretary that the United States does not propose relieving Panama of responsibility for the maintenance of peace and has no thought of interfering with the political parties in the republic. He emphasizes the fact that the United States does not assume to protect the Government and people of Panama "from the inevitable results of indifference and indiscretion on their part." He then says the United States would not be committing an act of war by sending troops into Panama upon the request of the President of that republic, as under the Panama Constitution such a request may be interpreted as the assent of the Panamanian Government. The right of the United States to protect its property wherever located is set forth by Secretary Root. Any hindrance to the construction of the canal is interference with the rights and privileges of the United States which the Secretary of State says must be dealt with, and accordingly the Secretary of War is directed to instruct all United States officials on the isthmus to hold themselves in readiness to meet any emergency without exceeding their jurisdiction.

THREE GRADES IN SAME TANK

Standard Oil Company Had No Scruples.

Short Measures, Bribery and Unfair Methods.

WAR ON RIVAL COMPANIES.

Chicago, May 10.—Corruption of railroad employees and agents of independent oil companies, dishonest methods of procuring land leases, the giving of short measure and the selling of three different kinds of oil out of the same tank and misrepresentations as to the quality of oil sold, were charged against the Standard Oil Company at today's hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Incidentally it was charged that the "Trisco" road gives a rate of two cents per hundred to the Standard Oil Company when it charges competitors of that corporation ten times as much for the same haul. The inquiry was held under an order of Congress and the session held here to-day was along the same lines as that held some time ago in Kansas City.

The principal witness of the day was E. M. Wilhoit, of Springfield, Mo., formerly for ten years agent of the Standard Oil Company at Topeka, Kas.

It was he who made the charges of bribery and dishonesty against the oil company and said that the "Trisco" road discriminated in favor of the Standard Oil Company. Other witnesses for the day were H. C. Deran, of Fremont, O.; E. P. Phippley, president of the Santa Fe road; and M. Maxon, a former agent of the Standard Oil Company in Illinois.

The last witness gave testimony, which, in many instances, was the same as that given by Mr. Wilhoit.

Opening of Hearing.

The hearing was conducted by Attorneys J. F. Marchand and F. S. Monett for the Government, and Commissioners Clements, Cockrell and Prosser for the Standard Oil Company. John S. Miller and A. E. Eddy appeared for the Standard Oil Company. Commissioner Clements at the commencement of the hearing announced that it was held in pursuance of a resolution passed by Congress, and that the present session was a continuation of the investigation conducted some time ago at Kansas City.

The first witness was E. M. Wilhoit, now an independent oil operator, but ten years ago an agent of the Standard Oil Company. He testified that while in the employ of the Standard Oil Company, he had, in following out the instructions of his superior officers, bribed clerks in the offices of railroads and employees of independent oil concerns in order to obtain information of the details of the business done by the rivals of the Standard Oil Company. He declared that agents of the Standard Oil Company had personally responsible for all oil sold in their territory by independent companies, and that drivers of tank wagons are expected to keep up their stock by selling 25 to 28 gallons from a wagonload of 200 gallons. He said that the actual test of the products of the Standard Oil Company to determine the quality are carefully guarded and that when it was found necessary to cut the price to meet the figure of a competitor a cheaper quality of oil was substituted, and guaranteed to be of a higher grade than it really was.

Three Grades From Same Tank.

Mr. Wilhoit said that frequently three grades of oil were sold from the same tank by agents of the Standard Oil Company.

In support of the statements he had made, Mr. Wilhoit read a letter purporting to have been written October 26, 1896, by C. W. Mayer, manager of the Standard Oil Company, at Kansas City. The letter inclosed a check for $8, and said that the company had decided to stop sending money for the use of its agents in obtaining information regarding the shipment of independent concerns for fear that knowledge of the practice might become public. He said that in the future, agents would be expected to obtain their information without the use of expensive money. Another letter, said to have been written by Mr. Mayer, and dated November 10, asked the local agent to obtain a sample of the product being shipped into the territory by the National Oil Company. The letter said that while the task was difficult, if the agent succeeded, it would make it possible for the company to obtain valuable information.

Clerks and Teamsters Bribed.

Several other letters were read by the witness in which he was instructed to watch shipments in his territory and report the name of every customer of the independent concerns, and the amount and quality of oil received by him. He said that he had bribed clerks in the office of the Rock Island, Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific to give him lists of shipments to the customers of independent companies. He told also of bribing teamsters in order to obtain information.

"Cylinder oil is the most profitable sold," said the witness, "and the Standard Oil Company dislikes to have any independent sell any of this grade. Our instructions were that if we found a competitor selling this oil in our territory to cut the price so as to get the

OMINOUS FLASHES OF FIRE.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—Without a single hitch and with only a minor incident to mar the memorable day, the Russian Parliament was inaugurated today. The weather was superb and the stage management of the impressive ceremony at the Winter Palace, where Emperor Nicholas, surrounded by courtiers and all the pomp and panoply of power, delivered the speech from the throne to the members of the two houses, was perfect. Such a spectacle perhaps never before has been witnessed on the earth's stage.

The message in reality was less a throne speech than a greeting and required only three minutes for its delivery. Emperor Nicholas read slowly. The admirable and even cordial tone of the sovereign in renewing his pledges and asking the co-operation of Parliament for the regeneration of the country was only negatively satisfactory.

Emperor's Address.

The Emperor's speech was as follows: The Supreme Providence which gave me the care of our fatherland moved me to call to my assistance in legislative work elected representatives of the people. In the expectation of a brilliant future for Russia I greet you by the best men from the empire, whom I ordered my beloved subjects to choose from among themselves.

A difficult work lies before you. I trust that you will devote all your strength to the service of your country, and especially to the needs of the peasant, which are so close to my heart, and to the education of the people and their economic welfare, remembering that to the dignity and prosperity of the state not only freedom but order founded upon justice is necessary.

I desire from my heart to see my people happy and prosperous, and my son an empire secure, well organized and enlightened. May God bless the work that lies before me in unity with the Council of the Empire and the Imperial Duma. May this day be the day of the moral revival of Russia and the day for the renewal of its highest forces.

Approach with solemnity the labors for which I call you and be worthy of the responsibilities put upon you by the Emperor and people. May God assist us.

Ominous Silence.

Courtiers and spectators other than members of the National Parliament led the cheering, but the members were ominously silent, expressing neither approval nor disapproval. What rankled most was the failure of the Emperor to mention amnesty, and later when the members assembled in the Tauride Palace, away from the spell of the throne room, many of them were with difficulty restrained from precipitating matters by offering resolutions on the subject. The Constitutional Democratic leaders, however, who dominated everything, were anxious not to weaken the reply which the lower house will prepare to the speech from the throne, in which issues with the Crown will be joined, and succeeded in staving off premature action.

The scene around the Tauride Palace was in striking contrast with that at the winter palace. Each indeed was typical and told an eloquent story. At the Tauride Palace tens of thousands of people were acclaiming their representatives; at the winter palace legions of military and courtiers by the hundreds cheered for the Emperor. Nevertheless, the proceedings of the lower house were not spectacular; in fact, they were almost tame in comparison with those at the winter palace.

Flashes of Fire.

The only genuine flashes of fire which showed the real temper of the members of the House were when Prof. Mourmisseff, who had been elected President of the House, invited Government officials and clerks to leave the hall, and when Ivan Petrunkevitch in a few eloquent words from the rostrum told the auditors that the first thought of the Parliament should be for those who had suffered in the cause of liberty, who now filled the prisons and whose arms were stretched out in hope and confidence to the people's representatives. More enthusiastic cheering than that which greeted this appeal never was heard in a political convention in the United States.

Constitution and amnesty were the keynotes of President Mourmisseff.

By the irony of fate Ivan Petrunkevitch, whose first mention of the word constitution twelve years ago was dismissed by Emperor Nicholas as "a foolish dream," to-day stood in the front rank of the members of the Representative Chamber while Emperor Nicholas put his final seal upon the Russian Parliament and begged the representatives of the people to co-operate with him in working for the welfare of the country.

Mayor Makes Contract With Trains and Railway.

Sixty-five Miles of Streets Get Wetting.

Wants Those Off Trolley Lines to Get Ducking Also.

TO COST ONLY $4,100.

The first steps toward making Louisville a dustless city during the summer months were taken yesterday when Mayor Paul C. Barth signed contracts with the Louisville Railway Company and the Louisville Trolley Company for sprinkling sixty-five miles of streets. The total sum to be paid the two companies for sprinkling on all the streets on which there are car lines until November 1 is $4,100, which is regarded as a price extremely low for such service and for such a length of time.

Mayor Barth has been dicker with the two companies for the past five weeks. While both companies showed a most liberal spirit, yet there were incidents and details which had to be gone over and disposed of before the contracts were finally signed. Under the agreement the companies will begin sprinkling the streets on the car lines at once. Well-equipped tanks will be placed on trucks and the sprinkling will be done at a rapid rate.

Wants Other Streets Sprinkled.

Mayor Barth does not know when the city will be able to sprinkle all the streets not on car lines. He will take the matter up at once and hopes to let contracts for sprinkling some of the streets not on car lines shortly. The sprinkling of the streets of the car lines is a knotty problem and one that will cost a lot of money. Mayor Barth desires that everything shall be done in the most economical manner and does not want to attempt anything for which an insufficient amount of money is appropriated. Mayor Barth announced several months ago that he intended to have the streets of Louisville sprinkled if it were possible to secure sufficient funds with which to do it. By economy in various departments he has been able to carry out his promise.

Gratifying To Mayor Barth.

"The contract that I closed to-day with the two companies for sprinkling all streets on which car lines are located," said Mayor Barth, "is certainly gratifying to me. I think the figures are as low as they can be possibly put. Above everything, I am gratified to be able to fulfill my promise in regard to the sprinkling of the streets. I could not have asked the two companies for more liberal propositions than were made to the city."

To Sprinkle Five Months.

"The companies will begin sprinkling the streets on which car lines are located at once, and will continue for five months. I cannot say when the city will be able to make the announcement that all the streets will be sprinkled. To sprinkle the streets of the car lines is a difficult problem to solve. It will take a large amount of money. However, I hope to be able to announce soon that many of the streets off the car lines will be sprinkled. You see, we are limited in the matter of funds, and my aim is to make the city's money go as far as it can and do the best service."

"No citizen is more anxious than myself to see the day come when every street in the city will be sprinkled during the summer months. That has been a crying need for years in Louisville. In fact, the sprinkling of the streets has been neglected, which has been a detriment to the city. The people must be patient, and we will get around to all of them just as soon as we can. I do not promise when this will be,

FADS

Usually demand the sacrifice of beauty, consequently they are short lived and never in the favor of women of good taste.

All patrician models are most exclusive types. There are no "fashion" ones, even the "Freak Last" being a freak only in name. In design it is one of the most charming of Patrician creations. A piquant suggestion of mannishness is found in the rounded toe and slightly extended sole, but every line is so full of feminine delicacy that it is more like a dainty, refined miniature of the masculine than the burlesque of the usual mannish model.

SMALLPOX UNDER CONTROL

DESPITE INCREASED NUMBER OF CASES.

ERUPTIVE HOSPITAL PATIENTS GETTING WELL.

FORTY ARE BEING TREATED.

Despite the fact that warm weather has made its appearance, the number of smallpox patients at the Eruptive Hospital does not diminish. In April the number dwindled to twenty-seven, but yesterday the register showed that forty patients were being treated. During the winter and up to the present time, smallpox patients have been treated at the hospital. These patients are picked up in the city and county, and yet but little has been heard of the disease during the past eight months.

Dr. J. S. Whittenberg, superintendent of the Eruptive Hospital, has remarkable success with his patients. He goes quietly along attending to the patients, and thousands in Louisville do not think that there is a case of smallpox within fifty miles of them. Despite the fact that smallpox is looked upon as a winter disease, yet there are many cases during the summer that someone is not being treated at the hospital for the disease.

"In the early fall," said Dr. Whittenberg, "we have to treat a great many patients from Indiana, but as the winter wears on the Indiana patients become more and more scarce, and the winter wears on the Indiana patients become more and more scarce, and the winter wears on the Indiana patients become more and more scarce."

OBJECTED TO CADAVERS BEING CARRIED BY STUDENTS.

Crowd of Negroes Nearly Starts Riot When They Saw Parts Being Removed From College.

A little indiscretion on the part of the students at the Citizen's National Hospital, on Green street, near First street, has resulted in a riot. The students, who are carrying the bodies of the dead, were seen by a crowd of negroes, who were excited and almost precipitated a riot. CALLS KENTUCKY CHILDREN HOME

Gov. Beckham Issues Home-Coming Proclamation.

Copies To Be Sent To All Former Residents.

Mayor Invites Ex-Kentuckians To Louisville.

PROMISES CORDIAL WELCOME.

Frankfort, Ky., May 10.—(Special.)—Gov. J. C. W. Beckham today issued a proclamation inviting all former residents of Kentucky to return to this State for Homecoming Week, June 13-17 next. The Louisville Commercial Club will have printed between sixty and seventy thousand copies of the proclamation, and one will be mailed to every former Kentuckian who has heretofore received an invitation for Homecoming Week.

The paper is regarded by those who have read it as one of Gov. Beckham's best efforts, and without doubt will have great influence upon homelost Kentuckians who read it. The correspondent of the Associated Press tonight sent the proclamation out by wire, and it will be printed to-morrow morning in every paper of prominence in the United States.

Following is the proclamation in full: COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY. Department, Frankfort.—To all absent sons and daughters of Kentucky who have been absent from this State for a period of years, I hereby invite you to return to your home in Kentucky for Homecoming Week, June 13-17 next. The Louisville Commercial Club will have printed between sixty and seventy thousand copies of the proclamation, and one will be mailed to every former Kentuckian who has heretofore received an invitation for Homecoming Week.

The fund parent years for the return of an absent child, so does your mother Commonwealth rejoice in the prospect of bringing you home. I am sure that you will find in Kentucky a warm and cordial welcome, and that you will find in Kentucky a warm and cordial welcome, and that you will find in Kentucky a warm and cordial welcome.

After the strenuous times of Wednesday and the big count for Thursday, a light vote was to be expected in the Tour to Europe Popularity Contest. The number recorded this morning is small, and only two candidates sent in more than 1,000 to be recorded—Miss Kate Boringford, of No. 8, and Miss Beattie Cox, of No. 10.

The outcome of the prize competition was a surprise to some of the contestants, the vote being much larger than anticipated. It will have the effect of making all candidates now work harder for the final test. Remember, the contest has been weeks to run, and no candidate is to-day absolutely certain of winning. Great changes can occur in seven weeks.

gradual and healthy improvement in prices—
(A. O. Brown & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeport & Co.)

New York—One factor that has not been reckoned with in this market recently has been the short interest has been growing to large proportions in the recent past. It has been reported to us today that there have been some heavy lines of stock borrowed privately for a considerable period, and that some of the market has been held back by this heavy borrowing. It is said on the best authority that this shortage exists, and that some one will get it before the present market rally. The market has gone up beyond reason in the majority of stocks, and under such conditions we cannot advise our friends to buy at the present level. When these shorts are cleaned up the market will be subject to a big reaction, and this may be from a higher level of prices. We do not wish to predict—
Dist. A. Co. to John L. Dunlap.

New York—Money on call was easier than for some time, and the market sold at a further advance to-morrow. Reading held its own in spite of the Senate's amendments to the Rate Bill yesterday, but it was not checked, and it therefore did not rise in the advance of rest of the list. There was no news of moment and the market moved on technical lines. It took for further advance in Northern Pacific, St. Paul and Union Pacific to-morrow—(Dominick & Dominick to Halsey & Halsey).

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, May 10.—Money on call easy at 2 1/2 per cent; ruling rate 3 1/2; closing bid 2 1/2; offered at 3. Time loans steady; clearing bid 1 1/2; offered at 1 1/2. Money market quiet. Prime mercantile paper 8 1/2 per cent. Sterling exchange strong at 48 1/2 per cent. 4 1/2 per cent for demand and at 48 1/2 per cent for 60 days. Gold market quiet. Mexican dollars 52. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds steady.

The stock market to-day again demonstrated its power of absorption of such offerings as came upon it to realize profits. The strength of the market rendered itself after the process of digestion and advanced to a higher level. The reaction in prices at one time during the forenoon was entirely given up and the professional trading element regained its self-suspicious of the market, and was unable to make trades to break about a reaction. This attitude toward the market of professional traders is not based on any development of actual conditions in fact or finance, but purely on the technical side of the market, and to the extent to which the recovery has run from the low prices of last week. For instance, Reading has sold 100 points above last week's low. American Express, which was at 100 points below last week's low, is now at 100 points above last week's low. The general condition of business and industry has yielded no sign that forces of reaction are at work. The market is still in the hands of the speculative market organizations, and the speculative market organizations are still in the hands of the speculative market organizations. The market is still in the hands of the speculative market organizations, and the speculative market organizations are still in the hands of the speculative market organizations.

While there is evidence of speculative profit-taking from day to day on the advance, and some selling out of stocks taken over by substantial banking interests for the purpose of supporting the market during the acute depression there is no sign of any renewal of the kind of liquidation which has been the cause of the general situation after the San Francisco calamity, and which carried the market down to the level of the present. The general condition of business and industry has yielded no sign that forces of reaction are at work. The market is still in the hands of the speculative market organizations, and the speculative market organizations are still in the hands of the speculative market organizations.

CURES STAMMERING.

PROF. ENNIS ADDRESSES AFFLICTED SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Lessons To Be Given At Various Schools and Annoying Troubles Corrected.

"You must speak each word clearly and distinctly, then you will never stammer," said Prof. O. H. Ennis, a "stuttering and stammering" specialist, as he addressed a small audience of school children and their parents at the eighth-grade school building, Center and Walnut streets, yesterday afternoon.

"You must have entire confidence in yourself and you must be sure of what you are going to say before you start to say it. Start the sound in your throat and you cannot stammer to save your life."

This is the doctrine Prof. Ennis preaches, and he claims to have had success in every case of a week's treatment. He is a Louisville for a week's treatment. He is a Louisville for a week's treatment.
